

I have xm satellite radio and pay for this services to be able to hear what I want to when I want. The weather and traffic service that XM provides has been very helpfully in my daily driving to be able to avoid the traffic in my area. If this was a service that was free to the public I would understand the FCC and the NAB regulating it but this is a service I PAY FOR. Therefore should be a service that the users decide what is on it not the government.
